A Quiet Tone Reigns in the Petersburg Tobacco Market-A Richmond Trust Company Qualifies as Administrator.

PETERSBURG. VA., July 21 .- [Special.]-The July term of the hustings court of Petersburg, Judge D. M. Bernard presiding. opened this morning. The principal case tried on the criminal docket was that of Charles W. Mason, a white man indicted on two separate charges of forgery. Mason forged the name of J. E. Mayes, of Chesterfield county, to two checks on the Petersburg Savings and Insurance Company for $12 each. He was convicted on the first indictment, and his punishment fixed at two years in the penitentiary. A verdict of not guilty was rendered in the other case, as there was no evidence that the accused had attempted to pass the check, but it was simply found on his person. Mason halls from Knoxville, Tenn., and the State of Ohio, and is the same man who attempted to cut his way out of jail a few days ago.

Lived and Died a Hermit.

ACCOMAC COURTHOUSE, VA., July 20,—[Special.]—Major George I, Barnes, aged eighty-three years, who lived near Pastoria on his farm on the seaside, died suddenly on the 12th instant from paralysis. He was an old bachelor, and his life was like that of a hermit. When stricken he was alone, without any one to assist him. The farm he lived on is considered very valuable, being situated right on the Broadwater, which intervenes between it and Metompkin Beach.

On yesterday Mr. Claudius N. Wyant, of Rockingham county (one of the professors at Onancock Academy), and Miss Blanche Northam, daughter of Mr. Thomas A. Northam, of Onancock, were married at Holy Trinity church, in Onancock, by Rev Henry L. Derby, of the Protestant Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Berryman, of the Methodist Episcopal church South. The church was crowded with friends of the parties. A reception took place after the ceremony at the bride's home, and when over the bridal couple took the train North.

To-day at the same place Mr. Armistead Capehart, of Kittrell, N. C., and Miss Lillian Bagwell, daughter of the late Gen-eral Edmund R. Bagwell, of Onancock, were married by Rev. Mr. Derby.

They first made an en-trance into Mr. Manley's blacksmith shop, secured what tools were necessary to accomplish their work and then commenced upon the store-house of Mr. Samuel M. Harvey. They entered through one of the windows, ransacked his cash-drawer and appropriated its contents. Fortunately for Mr. Harvey, they only got a few dollars, which had been left in the drawer for change. Their next attempt was upon the store of Mr. R. S. Smither, There, too, they were successful. Mr. Smither's loss was one fine gold watch, seven or eight gold rings and other jewelry and several dollars in money. From here they went to the office of Mr. Chastain Attkisson, who deals in tobacco, broke into his sate, but did not get a cent, as there was no money in it.

The address of welcome was responded to on behalf of city and county superintendents by Rev. John E. Massey, superintendent of public instruction. Professor Thom and Miss Harrison, instructors in the Segment Neural lines cleaning mode short Thom and Miss Harrison, instructors in the Summer Normal, just closing, made short and impressive addresses. Dr. John L. Buchanan, formerly superintendent of public instruction, was called for and responded in a very happy speech. Major Saunders, superintendent of Campbell, delivered a short address, after which the Association adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9 closely.

I sought an inverview with Professor Thom and Miss Harrison with reference to the Bedford Summer School of Methods. It seems that this school has been more prac-tical than is usual in the summer normals. Professor Thom and Miss Harrison speak in the highest terms of the teachers in attendance. They have been punctual and studious, and the opinion is that they will go back to their school work better prepared to manage and train their pupils.

North Carolina World's Fair Managers in Session-Sensational Murder Case in Winston-North State Notes.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 21 .- (Special.)-To-day the case of Albea against the Western Union Telegraph Company came up before the railroad commission. This is the case in which complaint was made by Eugene P. Albea, of Winston, of overcharge for a message sent from Elizabeth City to Winston, the telegraph company claiming that the message had to be sent via Norfolk, thus traversing another State before reaching its destination. J. B. The board of North Carolina World's Fair managers was in session here last night and to-day, and much important business has been transacted relative to the representation of North Carolina at Chicago. A design was adopted for the North Carolina building at Chicago, which will be typical of the old colonial palaces and residences of the old colonial palaces and residences of the State. It was found necessary to abandon the former purpose to reproduce the old Tryon Palace, which formerly stood at New Berne, as sufficient space could not be secured at Chicago for it.

The Third parts in the statements of the control of misleading to some degree. The Third party is stronger than many suppose, and its stronghold seems to be in the black belt. It will take hard and continuous work to carry the State for Democracy. North Carolina can be kept in the Democratic column, but it will require more strenuous efforts than were ever before made. The Thirdparty people are not frightened by the prospect of a Force bill in case of Republican success, neither does the color question prospect of a Force bill in case of Republi-can success, neither does the color question influence them. Indeed, it is from the col-ored element that they hope to gain strength enough to succeed. Of course this hope is groundless, but it is effective in the campaign. An important question, in relation to the right of one State to punish the offense of bigamy committed in another State of the Union, has lately been passed upon by the supreme court of this State. In harmony with the principle, which has now become generally recognized in America, the court holds that a State government can properly take cognizance only of criminal offenses which are committed within its own territorial limits. The case arose under a statute of the State which declared that any mar-ried person should be guilty of a felony who married any other person during the life of a former husband or wife, whether the second marriage should take place in this State or elsewhere. The defendant was accused of having violated this statute by marrying in South Carolina. It was held that the courts of this State had was held that the courts of this State had no power to punish this act. The court was careful to declare, however, that it did not wish to be understood as questioning the power of the State to punish one of its own power of the State to punish one of its own citizens who goes out of the State with intent to evade its law by celebrating a bigamous marriage beyond its jurisdiction and returning to live within its borders. HEALTH OF MR. GLADSTONE.

It is (auxing Serious Uneasiness to His

Personal and Party Friends.

London, July 21 .- [Special.] - Gladstone's

health is causing some uneasiness to his friends. His exertion in the Midlothian campaign told severely on him, and the resuit of the election, leaving him with so small a majority, opens a vista of trouble which has worried him intensely. He has nothing organically wrong, but has begun to show the effects of extreme age in a feebleness entirely new to him. When staying with Lord Rosebery, during the election, he repeatedly fell sound asleep during dinner on two occasions after the first course, and was removed to his bedroom in his chair asleep and put to bed. This tendency to drowsiness has been noticed lately in the House of Commons, but it has increased rapidly under the nervous tension sult of the election, leaving him with increased rapidly under the nervous tension he has undergone, and is also aggravated by the nervousness natural to a man of advanced age. It was to brace his nerves that he was hurried off to the Highlands after elections, but, between bad weather and the lack of his old recuperative power, the benefit derived from the change has been so light that his stay there has been prolonged nearly a week. This would not have been done if it week. This would not have been done if it had been avoidable, for Gladstone should properly have been in London the past week and in constant conference with his colleagues and leading followers. His absence is giving scope for intrigues in the party which are certain to be a fresh source of difficulty later on. The fear of Gladstone's family is that the labor and annoyance inseparable from carrying on the Gov-ernment with a small and mixed majority must tell with effect upon him before many months. The Tories know this, and their plan is to worry him, have late sittings and oppose legislation in every possible way. The strain of the next few months will be enough to appall the strongest man.

New York, July 21 .- At noon to-day the Democratic national committee met at the Fifth-Avenue Hotel, Chairman Brice presiding. There was a large attendance, but few proxies appearing on the roil. The committee appointed by the State executive committee of Illinois to work for the establishment of a branch headquarters at Chicago was on the ground. It is headed by Washington Heising. The committee came here full of confidence, but after talking with the national committeemen and making a thorough canvass of the situation, it was found that a majority of the national men were opposed to the scheme. It was then decided not to press the matter before the siding. There was a large attendance, but decided not to press the matter before the national committee but to make an appeal later to the executive committee. Mr. Heis-ing held a conference with Mr. Cleveland on the question, together with other mem-bers of the committee.

When Secretary S. P. Sheering called the roll nearly every member responded. Only three were represented by proxies. The secretary read several letters and telegrams relating to the business to come up before the committee and to the work of the campaign. Senators Gorman and Ransom and W. C. Whitney made short speeches, urging harmony and hard work in the interest of the party. Chairman Brice then tendered his resignation, which was accepted. Lieutenant-Govenor Sheehan, the New York member of the committee, then nominated William F. Harrity, of Pennsvivania, for chairman. Mr. Harrity was unanimously elected. He took the chair and in a brief address thanked the committee for the honor, and bledged himself to do all in his power to secure the election of the Democratic ticket next November.

Simon P. Sheering, of Indiana, was unanimously re-elected secretsy, and Robert B. Roosevelt, of New York, was elected treasurer, to succeed Charles J. Canda, speeches, urging harmony and hard work in

THE RICHMOND TERMINAL.

The Effort to Bring the Underlying Properties Together.

The New York Sun of Thursday says the effort to reorganize the Richmond Ter. minal

"There was a meeting of the advisory board of the security holders of the Richmond Terminal Company yesterday after. noon at the office of Work, Strong & Co. The meeting was called by G. F. Stone, chairman of the sub-committee of three. At the class of the meeting, this official state. the close of the meeting this official state.

ment was given out:

"The Chairman reported that satisfactory progress had been made by his committee, and called upon Mr. W. P. Clyde, who had heartly co-operated with the committee in the work, to explain in detail what had been done. The action of the committee, as well as that of Mr. Clyde, was unanimously approved, and both the committee and Mr. Clyde were asked to continue upon the lines they had been operating upon. The meeting then adjourned subject to call of the Chair.

"Mr. Stone said later: 'The improvement in the situation recently has been so marked that the plans of reorganization are practically held in abeyance.

"That is to say, the situation is so much improved by the work so far done by the sub-committee and Mr. Clyde that the affairs of the company may be satisfactorily settled without a reorganization.

"It was learned that practically all the work so far done has been with reference to the Richmond and Danville floating debt. This debt of $4,000,000 will be extended. The persons carrying the debt have agreed to carry it on the same terms for a further period of two years, with the option of further extension. The company may, if further extension. The company may, if it chooses, pay the debt at any time within two years. The World makes the following com-

The real meaning of the confidence of the Ciyde faction now in possession is that they have found it possible, with the abundance of money at call, to extend the floating indebtedness of the Richmond and Danville system, amounting to about $5,000,000, for a term of two years, with the option of liquidating at any time. Be-sides this, with the receiver in charge, he can issues certificates for current ex-penses, and as there is a first claim on receipts, he can get low rates for goods and supplies needed, which the regular officers of late have been unable to do. The Clyde party expect with such arrangements to pull through, and that too, without any professional banking-house assistance. They say that so long as the bondholders are getting interest regularly it would be come them to keep quiet."

Buying Richmond Terminal. NEW YORK, July 21.—Chaunce & Gwynne

Brothers, who have been often noticed as buyers of Richmond Terminal, bought 2,500 shares to-day, Practically no information was given out after the meeting of the committee yesterday. It was unofficially stated to-day by members of the committee that the Richmond and Danville committee that the Richmond and Danville is now practically the only road controlled by the Terminal Company and the proposed reorganization of the Terminal will deal with it simply as the owner of the Danville road. One of the parties now working on the reorganization said that the Georgia Central is out of the Terminal system for good and that as the Terminal owns but 39 per cent. of the Fast Tennassa per cent, of the East Tennessee capital stock it couldn't be regarded as controlling
